

Code of Conduct

Effective Date: 1 April 2026 | Version 2.1 | Owner: Compliance & HR

1. Purpose

This Code of Conduct sets out the standards of ethical and professional behavior expected of every employee, contractor, and director of NovaTech Enterprises Pvt Ltd. It reflects our commitment to integrity, accountability, and mutual respect in every aspect of how we work, and it applies equally regardless of seniority, location, or role.

2. Integrity and Honesty

Employees are expected to act honestly in all professional dealings, including in financial reporting, client communication, and internal documentation. Misrepresentation of facts, falsification of records, or knowingly providing misleading information to colleagues, clients, or regulators is strictly prohibited and may result in immediate termination.

3. Respect and Non-Discrimination

NovaTech Enterprises is committed to a workplace free from discrimination and harassment. Every employee has the right to be treated with dignity regardless of gender, religion, caste, ethnicity, age, disability, or sexual orientation. Harassment of any kind, including verbal, physical, or online, will not be tolerated and will be addressed through the Company's POSH Policy and disciplinary process.

4. Conflict of Interest

Employees must avoid situations where personal interests conflict, or appear to conflict, with the interests of the Company. This includes financial interests in competitor or vendor organizations, hiring or supervising close relatives without disclosure, and accepting gifts or favors that could influence business decisions.

- Any actual or potential conflict of interest must be disclosed in writing to the employee's manager and HR promptly upon becoming aware of it.
- Employees must not use their position at the Company for personal financial gain outside of authorized compensation and benefits.
- Outside employment or consulting engagements must be disclosed to and approved by HR prior to commencement.

5. Confidentiality and Intellectual Property

Employees will, in the course of their work, have access to confidential Company and client information, including trade secrets, source code, client data, and business strategy. This information must not be disclosed to unauthorized parties, whether during or after employment. All work product, code, designs, and inventions created during employment and related to Company business are the intellectual property of NovaTech Enterprises, in accordance with the employee's signed employment agreement.

6. Use of Company Assets

Company assets, including laptops, software licenses, email accounts, and office facilities, are provided for legitimate business use. Incidental personal use is permitted within reasonable limits, provided it does not interfere with work responsibilities, violate the IT Security Policy, or expose the Company to legal or reputational risk.

7. Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption

Employees must not offer, give, solicit, or accept bribes or improper payments in connection with Company business, whether dealing with clients, vendors, or government officials. Any gift exceeding ₹2,000 in value received from a business partner must be disclosed to and approved by the Compliance team.

8. Social Media and External Communication

Employees are free to participate in social media in their personal capacity, but must not disclose confidential Company or client information, and must clearly indicate that views expressed are personal and not those of NovaTech Enterprises when discussing work-related topics. Official Company communications, including press statements, must be approved by the Marketing or Corporate Communications team.

9. Reporting Violations

Employees who become aware of a violation of this Code of Conduct are expected to report it to their manager, HR, or through the Company's confidential Whistleblower Hotline. Retaliation against any employee who reports a genuine concern in good faith is strictly prohibited and will itself be treated as a serious disciplinary matter.

10. Enforcement

Violations of this Code of Conduct will be investigated by HR and, where relevant, the Compliance or Legal team, and may result in disciplinary action ranging from a formal warning to termination of employment, depending on the severity and nature of the violation. In cases involving potential legal violations, the Company reserves the right to involve law enforcement authorities.
